Art Unit: 1724

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-6, drawn to a composition of matter, classified in class 502, subclass 69.
- II. Claims 7-12, drawn to a method for making a composition, classified in class 502, subclass 69.
- III. Claims 13-31, drawn to a method for removing contaminants from a fluid, classified in class 210, subclass 691.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other, because of the following reasons:

Inventions I and II are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make other and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case, the process of Group II could be used to make another product, different from that of Group I. For example, this process could be used to produce an aluminosilicate having pore diameters of less than 100 angstroms, or greater than 300 angstroms; or metal oxide and/or hydroxide particles having an average diameters greater than 50 μm . Alternatively, the product of Group I could be made by another process, different from that of Group II. For example, this material could be made without the UV irradiation treatment of Group II.

Inventions I and III are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case the product of Group I could be used in another process, different from that of Group III. For example, this material could be used as a catalyst in hydrocarbon cracking operations.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

Furthermore, if the invention of Group III is elected, then an election of species is also required. This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species of the claimed invention:

- (A) fluid species (e.g. water, air, etc.); and
- (B) contaminant species (e.g. ethylene, algae, etc.).

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed fluid species and a single disclosed contaminant species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, claim 13 appears to be generic.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that are elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Art Unit: 1724

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, Applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, Applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Should Applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, Applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.
